A Tyrant is dead

Bless all that is in the Emperor protection.

Early this morning, tired of waiting for the arrest of Inquisitor Coles the governor sent in the wolves down a secret elevator. The Grey Knights were not informed of the elevator cause the governor informed in his last words before being killed by Coles that he will be happy to take a bullet for his people then let Coles leave the planet alive. The wolves led by a Rune priest killed Coles and dragged his body out to the street for all to see.

The body was identified by the Grey Knights Captain before leaving. Citizens have been placed under the protection of the Wolves until a full investigation is complete. What will our fate be for all this, we will not know.

Life is back to normal here for now.

Glory to the Emperor

Open WAR on our planet. Ends

The War on our little planet is over. The Grey Knights of Warlord Graham Wilson has achieved in being 1st, with the Tau Forces led by Warlord Garnet taking 2nd and the mighty Tyrannid Fleet led by Warlord Ben taking the 3rd spot. The battles were long and many are dead. The count so far just in imperial forces ranges in the billions while the Orks and Nids are unknown with such great numbers to begin with. The battles on this planet will not be forgotten. Already the people of our world are rebuilding and getting on with their lives. The great pyres of our world are bright and hot with the dead being burned while the space marines take their honored dead back to the worlds they came from. The feral Orks of our world whose numbers had grown so much have died out and we may never see those kinds of numbers again.

The mining operations are being repaired and we are receiving parts from other worlds with a reduced cost. The Wolves have been placed as our protectors at this time and we are being watched and judge for our actions during Coles rein of power. We will be fine and we will live on. The emperor knows what happened here, so if we judged wrong at least he will welcome us as his followers and we will continue the fight with him Glory to the Emperor and may he protect the innocent.
