Snotty Pentfold— Fractured Leg

There are a lot of things that are allowed in blood bowl, but doping is one of the best, and there are a few teams that do it better than anyone else.

When you look across the rosters, there are a handful of players who have increased their games greatly when we look into how these players and teams have managed to gain an edge, we found a company called Dope'n'Right. This company deals only in performance enhancing drugs, some of their major clients are Unnecessary Explosions, Huatl Huardlers, Don Mortis and WWF.

How is these teams are allowed to continue to purchase black market enhancing drugs, we asked league officials that very question. Commissioner Awesome had this to say "Teams are using illegal drugs? This is news to us" It seems that the league doesn't know or care about black market enhancement drugs. Is it fair that some teams are able to afford these advantages, we at the leg think it is not fair at all.

What can be done to fix this problem, we at the leg are considering placing bounties on any player who is caught using the black market drugs. If you think this should be allowed please email sbtim@blackknightgames.ca our editor will take this data into consideration and we'll see if the league will allow us to put an end to this players!

If a tree Falls in the Forest...

If a tree falls in the forest, does it make a sound? This report doesn't have an answer to that question however, I can say first hand that if a Wardancer falls on the pitch, she makes a sound.

Monday February 3rd the New Ulthuan Patriots took the pitch in what they thought was going to be an easy game against Da Big Green. The Game started off as usual with the Wood elves striking fast, The Elven fans were enjoying the spectacle on the pitch, it was too bad that the Orc fans were starting to get unruly. Their attitude spilled onto the bench of Da Big Green, and midway through the first half it was heard that coach Nerris yelled to his team to "Take care of business"

What transcended next was horrific, Korag followed by warcries and cheers from the orc fans. The carnage didn't end there.

Sork and Gabhag were so fired up that they went out and brought back the heads of Dianna a star Wardancer and Rookie Thrower Rishnnyr. A lot of elven fans were seen with tears in their eyes as they've lost three of their beloved stars.

The Patriots won the game 5-0 but felt the pain of the loss. After the game, the team brought up rookie sensation Airdwen who is to carry the weight of the team.

The only thing Nerris had to say after the game was "We killed 3 of their players, and we got paid well for it"

Smash'Edz blocked Landwen down to the field, her amour held up, until she was surrounded and a vicious kick to the head, left her motionless on the pitch. Coach Timtheenchanter had the teams apothecary work on Landwen, however it was announced a few minutes later that the Super Star was indeed dead, gasps rocked the stadium, Gobo is lovin da start of dis season, we see lots of broken bones and players die on da pitch. Dar was two big deaths in a game da involved Da Big Green, a group of orc dat Gobo likes, and some dirty elfies. Da Big Green kicked Lany in da head and she stop movin, I cheer wit all da odter orc's and gob-lins in da stadium people were sad but we green skins were very appy wit da death, den da kill Dianna and dat started lots of fights in the crowd, Gobo hit an elf with a tankard of ale, he stop moving like the elfie on the field. Dis game was lotz of funz.

Sources within the league offices are reporting that the Star Players Association of the BKBBL have filed a grievance with the league this week. The union for Star Players reports that the demand for the Stars' services have never been higher, which is on pace for a record season. The grievance claims that Commissioner

Awesome has allowed "unproven teams" into the league without BKBBL officials visiting each team to make sure their offices and finances are in order. The Stars have voiced concerns through the SPA that they fear not getting paid for the dangerous work they do for the new teams, in some cases while playing amongst "inferior teammates on the pitch which increases the health risk". SPA claim that even the new team names themselves confuse some of the Star Players, with multiple teams in the league using the monikers of Hammers, Masters, and Patriots. Certain Star Players with lesser intelligence have reportedly almost

The league is reportedly investigating these claims, but Commissioner Awesome is not expected to do anything about it in the near future

What a first couple of weeks, who would of thought that the Hurdlers a two time championship team would tie the Fangs, a team who they historically have beat every time.

The next couple of weeks have some big match ups that you are going to want to see and bet on. The first game you don't want to miss is in week 5, a game between Slann Diego Chargers and Graveyard Shift, both of these teams are the best of all rookies, last season the Chargers went to the finals and they look to do the same this year.

The second game is Body Count vs Da big Green, these two teams have claimed that they are the most dangerous

In season two bounties were introduced into the BKBBL Hammer Bowl, at first no one bit until Inigo took the league by storm and started embarrassing teams night in and night out. The first bounty was placed and still stands on him.

The amount of bounties have been discussed in many board meetings, and how much should be allowed to be placed, At the begging of season 4 we saw a hard rule put in, The more a team pays a player will decided the total amount of a bounty.

The highest bounty ever was Plague Stala of the Hamilton Tiger-Rats until the rage of coach and manager Koudys dropped 210k on to Landwen, Bringing the total bounty to 230k. This bounty was cashed in two days later by Da Big Green, this pay out is more than Da Big Green is expected to make all season.

The question stands should there be bounties in the league, do we not find it barbaric well the Fractured

O B I T U A R I E S

Boris - Sylviannian Fangs: Died January 26th against the Huatl Hurdlers as he was hit by Mati'hari who piled onto Boris killing him at the 50 yard line.

Skitter Dyakowski - Hamilton Tiger-Rats: Confirmed dead on January 30th. He was having an average game against Da Big Green who tore his tail clean from his body, he bled out on the table.

Surma - Slaughtorns: Was confirmed dead on January 30th. He was expected to be star until the Colt-Blooded's lizards changed his fate.

Dwayne "The Block Johnson" - Unnecessary Explosion, was confirmed dead by the league on January 30th. It was said that the Khorne Stampeters sacrificed him to their sponsor Khorne Flakes.

Tyrish - New Ulthuan Patriots: Was confirmed dead on January 30th, She became another notch on the Body Count's belt.

Galadrian - Avalorn Angels: There is some speculations if he was dead, sources say "she dead"

Rishnnyr - New Ulthuan Patriots: Died Monday February 1st, against Da Big Green, this rookie played five games before she succumbed to the curse of the Patriots!

Dianna - New Ulthuan Patriots: Died Monday February 1st in the same game as Rishnnyr, this wryly veteran had no clue what she had signed up for last season, she played 15 games and helped relieve the weight of Star wardancer Landwen Landwen - New Ulthuan Patriots: Died Monday February 1st after she watched her teammates get brutalized on the pitch, she was knocked down and kicked repeatedly by Da Big Green. This was 2 days after a 230k bounty was placed on her. May she rest in peace and the Hall of Fame.

Nephthys - Drop Dead Gorgeous: Was confirmed dead on February 5th, this isn't the first time she was confirmed dead, there was June 22, 1812 and November 11, 1832 lets hope she stays dead.

Gudtry - A History O'Violence: Died February 7th when a death roll rolled over his head, the team had this to say "We'll miss'em 'e wuz da best thrower an orc could ask for"

Eisbock - First Round Draught: Died February 8th, He had a drunken career that ended to a boot to the head, rumor has it that the Vampire team drained him of his blood, and he is now playing for the Fangs!

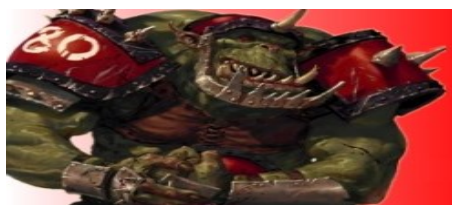

Minfl - Street Rats of Agrabah: was declared dead on February 7th. His broken foot from the open league finally caught up to him, when he tried to run away from the Chargers, he gained the extra yard unfortunately it was due to a block.

Issyria - Avalorn Angels: Apothecaries declared him dead on February 8th. He was minding his own business during a practice when the Zanzibarbarixes raided the game, tied the Angels and killed Issyria in true norse fashion.

In living memory of the players the Fractured Leg has donated 100k to the k.i.l.l.e.d corp who takes care of the families of dead BKBBL players.
